

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Almighty God for all His blessings upon me during my academic journey at Universitas Tanjungpura. I am sincerely grateful, for He has granted me health, wisdom, and everything needed to complete this undergraduate thesis. Words could not describe how thankful I am for all that God has prepared for me.

I would like to acknowledge the Bidikmisi Scholarship for providing me with scholarship funding during my study at Universitas Tanjungpura. I am also grateful that they provided all the scholarship awardees with various learning opportunities and personal development experiences. I could not appreciate them enough for all the support they have given.

My sincere gratitude and respect must also go to my principal supervisor, Dr. Endang Susilawati, M.Si., who is not only brilliant and wise but also a wonderful supervisor. She generously provided me with invaluable advice, constructive feedback, and guidance throughout the completion of this research. I owe a special debt to my principal supervisor as her comments on an early draft helped me to choose the suitable research design for this thesis. She also taught me a lot about how to adapt a research questionnaire. I am blessed that I could have Dr. Endang Susilawati, M.Si. as my principal supervisor.

I would like to extend my gratitude to my amiable and encouraging co-supervisor, Urai Salam, M.Call., Ph.D. I am deeply thankful to him, for he generously gave his time to offer me comments on my thesis. My co-supervisor taught me a lot about perception and how to select the right research participants.

He always found me solutions whenever I encountered problems when writing this thesis. I could say that he is the supervisor one would ever hope to learn from. To him, I express my deepest thanks.

I am deeply grateful to my examiners, Yanti Sri Rezeki, M.Ed.Wals., Ph.D. and Dr. Eni Rosnija, M.Hum. Without their assistance and dedicated involvement, this thesis would be incomplete. I am truly honoured to have them as my examiners, and I am indebted to them for the invaluable feedbacks, advices, and review, which helped me to improve this thesis.

I am also grateful to all my research participants. They helped me to figure out their perceptions of using Instagram for learning English writing. Without their participation, the data could not have been obtained successfully.

I would also like to thank my university friends: Nurnisa, Mely Yanti, Elfit, Irma, Amalia, and Ersas. I thank them for making my time at Universitas Tanjungpura memorable. I will miss those good old moments when we did our assignments together from morning to the next morning. I also thank them for listening to my numerous presentations, providing comments, and proofreading my thesis.

Finally, I shall not fail to thank my parents and sister for being my pillars of strength. This academic journey could not even begin without their unfailing support, unconditional love, encouragement, and constant prayers. Whenever I had difficult times throughout the years of study and through the process of writing this thesis, they had always been by my side to ensure me not to give up. I am forever grateful for everything that they have done for me and eternally thankful to have them in my life.
